

PRAYER

How Do I Know I Am Called?

Heavenly Father, You alone are the Author of Life. You alone know the plans You have for me. I long to know those plans. My heart's desire is to live out the call You have on my life. Today, I invite You into my circumstances. Saturate every part of my seeking heart with the fullness of Your Spirit. Make it Yours, fully and completely.

Give me eyes to see, ears to hear, a heart to receive and a mind to understand all that You speak to me. Father, tender my heart to hear Your voice, even the smallest whisper. Penetrate my heart. Rid it of all that is selfish and rebellious. And, Lord, if there is anything preventing me from hearing Your voice, reveal it to me. Give me a heart of humility. Enable me to surrender every part of my life to You. Help me to come to You with hands wide open. Loosen my grip on any and all things I hold too tightly.

Oh, Father, I long for Your highest and best. Let nothing in me resist obedience to Your leading. Meet me. Move me. Change me.

You have a plan and a purpose for me, and I desire to live in the fullness of that plan. Draw me close each and every day. Empower me to live out the truths and promises found in Your Word. Help me to do what it takes to "take the next step." Make my life one long walk of obedience. Let Your love and Your Word shape my life. Through Your Holy Spirit, move my heart to love You with every fiber of my being, praise You with every breath I take, serve You every day of my life and walk worthy of the sacrifice You made for me.

I ask this in the powerful and mighty Name of Jesus Christ, my Lord and Savior. Amen.
